Introduction

This booklet applies to male circumcision only.

The names, addresses, and other information in this booklet are given in good faith and are believed to be correct at the time of printing. They have been gathered together from a variety of sources including personal recommendations; radio, newspaper and magazine advertising. It should be noted that some doctors may have moved or ceased practice since the information was obtained.

Some of the doctors and clinics listed will only circumcise where there is a clear medical need (but in some cases psychological need will be considered). Others, including those mohelim who are not doctors, will only circumcise infants. This is stated where known, but circumstances do change and The Gilgal Society does not always have full details anyway.

Where fees are quoted these are the ones last known to The Gilgal Society and may not be complete or up to date. Readers are advised to carefully check what fees will be charged, and what they cover, before making any appointment.

Disclaimer

No recommendation is made or intended as to qualifications or competence of practitioners and advice organisations or in any other respect. Any reader making use of the services of any of the people or organisations listed, or any other information in this booklet, must satisfy themselves as to the standard of the advice and services which they are offered, and as to how appropriate such advice or services may be to their own needs. No responsibility can be accepted by The Gilgal Society for any consequences which may follow from the use to which a reader may put the information herein.

Abbreviations and Symbols Used

[F] immediately following a practitioner's name indicates that they are Female (where this fact is known for certain). Its absence does not imply that the doctor is male.

[ISL] immediately following a practitioner's name indicates that they are Moslem or are versed in providing circumcisions for the Islamic community.

[J] immediately following a practitioner's name indicates that he is known to be a Jewish doctor or mohel.

[REF] immediately following a name indicates that the entry refers to an organisation, or person, which may not perform or directly arrange circumcisions, but which will refer enquirers to a suitable practitioner.

The year, eg [2002], at the end of an entry indicates the date when the information was obtained or last updated.

The Titles – Dr., Mr., etc

The individual circumcision practitioners listed in this booklet are believed to be medically qualified if their name is preceded by the title Dr. or Mr. Those for whom neither title is given are not known to be medically qualified (generally these are registered Jewish Mohelim competent only in the circumcision of infants). Readers should be aware however that in some countries there is no legal requirement to be registered in any way in order to perform circumcisions.

In parts of the British Commonwealth and some other places, specialist Consultants and many doctors in private practice do not use the title Dr. but are known simply as Mr. This is reflected in the listings where the preferred title is known, otherwise the default title of Dr. is used. The use in this listing of the titles Dr. and Mr. does not therefore imply any greater or lesser knowledge and skill.

Additions and Corrections

Readers are asked to advise The Gilgal Society of any errors found in this booklet. Additional names and addresses from any part of the world, as well as other information relating to any entry would be very useful in order to improve our listings and provide a better service to readers. Information can be sent by post or e-mail to updates@gilgalsoc.org

A companion booklet of doctors in the United Kingdom can be obtained by post from The Gilgal Society, as can our limited listing of recommended circumcisers in the USA.
